The Western Pennsylvania Diaper Bank provides hope to families by meeting basic needs. As the region's only basic needs bank, it addresses diaper need, period poverty, and incontinence through advocacy and distribution. Partnering with over 70 social service agencies across eight counties, it distributes 4 million diapers, period products, and incontinence supplies to 18,000 families annually. The "2026 Hill District Sprinkle" event will support the "Back to Basics" campaign, helping to provide even more products to families in need.
